A NEW STORY BY EDGAR LAMED.

We shall begin Sunday next the publication of "Dougdale's Destiny," a new and interesting story by Mr. Edgar Lamed. It will appear in the same time in the New York Sun, the Philadelphia Times, the Cincinnati Enquirer, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, the San Francisco Chronicle, the Times-Democrat of New Orleans, the Morning News of Savannah, and the Springfield Republican. It will be divided into three parts, and will occupy three fourteen in publication.

BLAINE AND LOGAN CLUBS.

The committee of Blaine and Logan Clubs is desired to the Continental Women's Hotel, which will be a central headquarters in their hands to promote the success that it has in common.

The Continental Women's is furnished in style to keep the rest of the White-paper. Five rooms will be used for one address and when the Blaine Pin 2, or larger prices at the same cost.

The Continental Women's will be an avenue of taste and enjoyment for supporters of Blaine and Logan during this campaign. It will possess no disability or humiliating service. While it will repel every attack that the enjoyment of an evening long accustomed to regard Cleveland and Hegeny as legitimate weapons to political controversy can devise, it will also provide the amenities for innocuous and appropriate recreation.

Political men of the day will be presented with the utmost fairness. There will be a variety of entertainment reading for the family visits: the current commercial and financial reports of the Tribune will be given as usual; and in all respects the appearance of THE TRIBUNE as a newspaper will be maintained.

Orders should be addressed to THE TRIBUNE Company, Chicago, Ill.

MRS. CATHERINE S. DAVIS, the mother of Arthur Pott, is dead.

FERDINAND VON ROSTHORNE, a noted German geologist, is dead.

TANNER'S reports indicate that the cholera epidemic is subsiding at Bangalore and Trichi.

THE Hon. C. C. Parker, a member of the Minnesota Legislature, died at Forest-ville, Minn., yesterday.

IT is reported that "Albemarle" Myers, a once noted prizefighter, is now keeping a restaurant at Montreal.

IT is reported that China has practically agreed to the terms of France, will pay the indemnity, and thus avoid a war.

SIR GRANVILLE-VERNON, the Canon Affairs Question, is not in a letter severing the British Government of abandoning Berlin.

PRINCETON UNIVERSITY reports that the quadrennial on the Egyptian question will be resurrected in London next Tuesday.

THE citizens of Joliet propose to inaugurate Silver Lady of that place and the Lincoln Council for their successful efforts to secure the High Citizens law.

THERE is a growing probability that President Arthur will not have a vacancies to fill. John Jarrett, whose he appointed Chief of the county-seated Bureau of Labor Statistics, and who was confirmed for that office by the Senate. The President has discovered that Jarrett made remarks had written about him personally.

AT a session of the Cabinet at Washington yesterday measures to prevent the introduction of Asiatic cholera into the United States were discussed.

DURING the week ending yesterday there were 120 failures in the United States and twenty-three in Canada. The total for both countries the previous week was 190.

A JURY of United States Court Utah was drowned yesterday while Quarantine, Utah, while bathing in the Silver Lee. A second one was rescued, but his recovery is doubtful.

THE consolidation of Carleton Spreaker & Co., of this city, suspended yesterday, is stronger to note according to 1,000,000 liabilities is said to be the cause of the failure.

THE nomination of Congressman Hiram of the Twelfth Illinois District is being opposed by ex-State Senator Abrams and ex-Congressman Reed Wike, both of whom reside in the town.

THE work of the campaign in Maine will be entered upon next week by the Republicans. The Democrats have already given up the State, and will practically allow it to go by default in September.

SIR WILLIAM WILLIAMS, one of the Judges of the English Court of Queen's Bench, died yesterday in his 67th year. He was born in Wales, and was for a number of years the leader of the WELSH Liberals.

GEN. WALKER, United States Consul at Paris, says that city is unusually healthy. There has been no cholera there as yet. Its proximity is one more precaution to prevent the introduction of the contagion into the United States.

THE STATE CAPITOL, at Concord of State as it is called, has approved the bill making the Queen of Holland Queen over Princess Wilhelmina in case of the death of the Dutch King. The Dutch Parliament will choose the successor the 10th inst.

A DUEL of last night between Lieutenants has been effected between the Liberals, Conservatives, and Republicans of Nova Caroline. If none of the party officialdom can be kept quiet it is quite possible that the State can be carried for Blaine and Logan.

IT is stated and generally believed that the local Democratic leaders will largely concentrate their efforts for the Democratic candidates of the Legislature, with a view, it is supposed, to the repeal of the Harper High License act.

THOMAS GARRETT was shot to death by his stepson at Clifton Forge, Va., and that the boy's hands bathed his face, pretending to the antipathies. The boy found himself and rushed to a river close by, was seized by pleuriti. His stepfather followed, and both were drowned.

THE New York Freeman's Journal, which is supposed to voice the sentiment of Cardinal McCloskey, ridicules the nomination of Cleveland, and intimates that he cannot be elected. If the election were to occur in August it says Blaine would carry New York State with a bound.

PRESIDENT GARFIELD yesterday appointed S. A. Fish of California, John Trowbridge of Massachusetts, Henry A. Barnard of Maryland, and George F. Barker of Pennsylvania Commissioners to the Federal Conference of Electricians to be held at Philadelphia this autumn.

THE mortgages of John and Hazlewood, in Will County of this State, are to open suit against Cleveland. A meeting is to be held this evening at John to protest against the nomination of the New York Governor. At the conclusion of the meeting a Blaine and Logan Club will be formed.

AN effort will be made by the anti-Prohibition party in Kansas to submit the question to the 6th year. It is proposed to run Clark as a Union ticket, all the other nominees but himself being anti-prohibition Republicans. The Kansas Farmers' Association, it is believed, will contribute the campaign fund.

MR. ELSBREE, who has been appointed and confirmed as Chief of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, says he never made any observations personally reflecting on President Arthur, but admits that in a speech at Pittsburg he compared Blaine with Arthur, greatly to the advantage of the former.

THE Chicago market for hog products was steady yesterday and somewhat dull. There was active and much stronger, but weakened in the afternoon on the announcement that a prominent local short had closed out his deals. As compared with Thursday, pork closed steady, lard 5c more lower, ribs 5 each higher, wheat 1½ cents higher, corn 1 cent higher, oats ½ cent lower, and rye a shade lower.

SEVERAL murderous Democrats have reported that the Hon. W. C. Quinn, a prominent Irish-American of Peoria, in this State, a Democratic member of the last State Legislature, was about to support Cleveland and Hendricks. Mr. Quinn in a letter to Dr. Bostwick, of Chatsworth, Ill., states that he proposes to support Blaine and Logan, and that he will make opposition in favor of Both candidates when his health and the pecuniary duties permit.

EX-GOVERNOR W. H. RUSSELL, of Connecticut, and of wide notoriety, was to-day, N. Y., yesterday morning, and had an interview with Gen. Hancock, Cleveland's boss. It is reported it was decided that Governor should be made Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and that the campaign would be conducted on the "anti-civil-service" plan. Ex-Governor was conveniently absent from Albany when Governor called, which indicates that he wants to have no belonging alliance with Cleveland's methods.

THE private bankers here of A. J. C. C. Harrison of Indianapolis suspended yesterday morning, and by order of the court were placed in the hands of the Sheriff. The liabilities are estimated at $300,000, and the deposits number from 600 to 800. The Indianapolis City Treasurer banked with the firm, but it is believed he is fully secured. One of the members of the firm is the Receiver for the defunct Indiana Banking Company, and it is admitted that the affairs of that concern are inextricably mixed up with the business of the establishment which suspended yesterday. The depositors, as might be expected, are not in an amiable frame of mind, and friends of Cleveland here have hardly indulged in.

GOVERNOR LUCAS was interviewed at Des Moines yesterday. He supported Gen. Grant for the nomination. He is now enthusiastic for Mr. Blaine, and says he has no doubt that the Republican nominee will be elected in November. They will carry Iowa, he says, by much increased majorities. Mr. Lucas made considerable money in Iowa real estate speculations, and has been a heavy loser by the recent depression in values. He is a man of considerable ability, and is very popular with the people of his State.

THE Democratic Governor of Connecticut has issued a proclamation calling upon the people of that State to observe Thursday, August 14, as a day of fasting and prayer, "that we may be delivered from the evils of intemperance, and that the people may be led to the observance of the laws for the suppression of the traffic in intoxicating liquors." The Governor of Connecticut is evidently a Democrat who has been converted to the Prohibition faith since the Democratic party has become the champion of the liquor interest.

THE Democratic Convention in Ohio, which nominated Governor Hoadly for re-election, declared in favor of the repeal of the Scott law, which prohibits the sale of liquor in Ohio except for medicinal purposes. The Democratic party in Ohio is evidently trying to catch the German vote by declaring for the repeal of the Scott law, but it will not succeed. The Germans are not to be fooled by any such trick as that.

A DOUBLE-HEADER.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 18.—[Special.]—Another financial earthquake shook the business foundations of this city this afternoon, the tottering house of A. C. J. C. Harrison did not open its doors this morning. The trial and conclusive statement of Mr. J. C. S. Harrison yesterday and last night did not serve to stave off the inevitable. At a meeting held this morning a synod of the creditors took in hand the affairs of the business house in front of the house opening for business in accordance with Mr. Harrison's promise, but on the adoption upon which that step was taken of Goldsmith, Hendrix and Commissioner Lewis Ayres Hudson, Judge, whose the announcements came that a receiver had been appointed, the feeling was so intense that protests against such a course would likely have been made the occasion of the last open action. Yesterday he asserted that he would carry the fight through.

A DOUBLE-HEADER.

A petition was presented to the court on behalf of Alice Harrison, the young person, asking for the appointment of a receiver. Judge Walker named John Claypool, one of the oldest members of the Indianapolis Bar, as receiver of the business of the firm of A. C. J. C. Harrison in the matter of the Citizens' Banking Company. Accompanying the petition was one by Mr. John S. Spann, one of our most active attorneys, who represents the firm of A. C. J. C. Harrison, to the effect that the firm is insolvent, that this course is desired to serve, and, under order of the court, the court is to the custody of the court until a receiver can be appointed and qualified.

The action of the corporation caused but little excitement, as it had been generally suspected, and the effect was largely discounted by the conduct of the bank during the last few days. The bank has been in business since 1865, and while it has never been a popular depository, it had a condition of heavy resources and a clear cut strength.

CONFIDENCE OF CREDITORS.

It is difficult to state the condition of the affairs at present. The action of Hendrix and Lewis in voluntarily putting the firm into the control of outside parties at once did, and the amount of deposits coming from Saturday during the latter and a great many small funds and most of the accounts, with respect to the Harrisons, the failure will have increased. The City Commercial and Saturday Night have both come to the assistance of the Harrisons. The report of the bank to the auditor of state, dated May 5, showed the following: Capital stock paid in, $100,000; surplus fund, $50,000; undivided profits, $50,000; deposits, $1,000,000; total liabilities, $1,200,000; loans and discounts, $1,000,000; overdrafts, $5,000; banking house, furniture and fixtures, $50,000; due from banks and bankers, $100,000; cash items, $5,000; cash on hand, $100,000; total assets, $1,200,000.

What a magnificent field of speculation has opened in Paris for the Yankee dentists. There are quite a number now in Chicago who, during their quiet periods of leaving around, must grow quite rich on the proceeds of their Parisian visits. Wright is one of the advantages of that practice which have been present on the minds of many of the dentists who have been in the habit of visiting the Continent for the benefit of their health. It is understood that the Chicagoans will be in attendance at a settlement, but probably that they will be discussing the relative charms.

The Cubans by fire in the United States number the half-cent were nearly $10,000,000 in all, and $5,000,000 more than the highest estimate for any previous corresponding half-year.

The Dallas Catholic Union and Times, which is a paper of Democratic tendencies, announces, in effect, that it will support Cleveland. The Democratic party is almost universally with the Democratic party.

The question was been asked on all sides in Wall that Grover Cleveland chose to confine his efforts to the Chief Magistrate's office and to the administration and maintenance of Grover S. Cleveland.

The Times Indianapolis are much shocked that Congressman Bynum should come out for Bryan. They can scarcely have gone to the extreme that they have John G. Carlisle on their side.

Mr. Tarte advises the readers of his paper to read the letter from the bottom up. When the bottom falls out it is not worth while going to read.

Mr. John Boyle O'Reilly says: "Democracy has not a single public leap enough to be the foundation of the Union Party."

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN.

It has transpired that Mr. A. W. Arbuckle's much advertised recent visit to this city was not a trip for his own pleasure, but was solely for the purpose of making a business call.

Mr. John W. Dunn of Kokomo was here on Thursday last, and took the rest of the old Democratic party with him. He is a regular Democrat, and has been for many years, but he says he is not willing to be led by the nose by a lot of anarchistic fools.

Opening of the Twelfth Ward Wigwam—A Great Gathering.

The Fight for County Offices—The Democrats Fighting the Battles.

Bibliopegistic Quarrel in Cleveland—Garfield to Talk at Danville—Gen. Sheridan.

THE TWELFTH.

The Twelfth Ward Republican Club last night dedicated its new wigwam on Madison street, near Ashland. The building has been in course of construction for about a month past, and is a fine-looking structure 40 by 100 feet, with a seating capacity of 2,000, which at last night's meeting was taxed to its utmost, many people being unable to gain admittance. At the rear of the wigwam, a large stage, which will accommodate 100 people, and on either side of the stage are sitting rooms for the speakers. The building throughout is handsomely draped with bunting and pictures of the Republican candidates were hung on the walls. At the back of the stage, in the center, is the portrait of the martyred Lincoln, with large pictures of Blaine and Logan on either side, the whole being surmounted by a picture of the eagle. To the right of the stage a flag-pole, 60 feet high, is planted.

The large audience which assembled to participate in the ceremonies was called to order by Alderman Ashley Judd, who introduced to the chair Mr. Frederick Ayer, the president of the club, and the latter, after a few remarks, introduced Judge Lambert Tree, who delivered the principal address of the evening. Judge Tree's remarks were frequently interrupted by applause, and were listened to throughout with marked attention. The speaker, in defending the building against the charge of extravagance, said that the wigwam was not a luxury, but a necessity. It was the property of the people, and was dedicated to the principles of right and justice.

Mr. C. C. Buckley reported from the State Convention that the vast host here with him, which filled two large halls, had been left behind at Springfield.

The following was then read:

RESOLUTIONS.

Resolved, That the Twelfth Ward Republican Club of Chicago, in meeting assembled, hereby expresses its unqualified confidence in the wisdom, patriotism and statesmanship of the Hon. James G. Blaine, and pledges him its hearty support for the presidency.

Resolved, That we heartily indorse the nomination of Gen. John A. Logan for the vice-presidency, and pledge him the support of this club.

Resolved, That we indorse the nomination of Hon. Carter H. Harrison for Congressman-at-large, and pledge him the support of this club.

Resolved, That we indorse the nomination of Hon. Thomas Hoyne for Congressman-at-large, and pledge him the support of this club.

Resolved, That we indorse the nomination of Hon. Lambert Tree for Congressman-at-large, and pledge him the support of this club.

Resolved, That we indorse the nomination of Hon. Frank Lawler for Congressman-at-large, and pledge him the support of this club.

Recent Fiction.

Modern novelists continually begin with a few humorous and earnest scenes with fashionable society. Recent illustrators of New York life, Robert Grant is not the original in this but in the acknowledged way. In "An Average Man" he is, as in other respects, a prosaic novelist. It is essential to their success as novelists to the consistency that scenes, the surroundings, and the personal appearance of fashionable society in America should be somewhat commonplace. The same characteristic—applying to "society" as much as to the story—is, the longer and closer one reads the managing business, the governing in this country. The fashionable world and politics are the two great spheres of the American people, and the two which give a full idea of certain phases of life in the American metropolis. Mr. Grant's English is as much unconcerned, and has as much right to be unconcerned, as a writer of as much purity of style as Thackeray. But of the following specimens of the two kinds which always show which of a good and readable pair, and consequently suggestive of

The strength of the Democratic party, with the Democratic press, was in the country districts. The city was Republican, and the city press was Republican. The Democratic party was the party of the country, and the Democratic press was the country press. The Democratic party was the party of the country, and the Democratic press was the country press. The Democratic party was the party of the country, and the Democratic press was the country press.

The above is to be commended as a plea for the preservation of the idea of association rather than the breaking of the associations. (Lamb & Chapman & Co.)

The next two novels "Chester Johnson" and "Love Me Little, Love Me Long" had stronger attributes of the story-writer with the corresponding natural "unconscious" performance upon every following to work, but never really for standing. "A Southern Family," by Charles Gayler, is a study in working and quick sparring as to suggest the dangers of the "Southern" and "Northern" types and ideas. (Harper & Brothers.)

"Dealing the Truth," by Miss McLean, would have given colour to the other people, the Cincinnati Sun (Ohio), is not the truth, and here is the key to how it is to go—Dog the life of Cincinnati.

"Dog" is short, is a novelist story. He didn't go to the Way, but brought a considerable story to that English. He brought a heroine and there a Bishop of New Jersey, New York, also a Bishop of the United States of England, all with the best attributes of ordinary good society, and a Bishop of the Episcopal Church of Virginia, and a son of the late College Bishop of Virginia. "The new novelist," says Mr. Clark Howell, novelist editor of the Constitution, "will contribute him an air of pressing possibilities above and beyond all." The interest in the result of several another pretty story and unpretending, is a wonderfully simple, and the whole personal and pretty interesting, to the possession of a most character of personality especially suited to the tendency. Mr. Howell's story regarding the [illegible] of one of the leading daughters, who showed on the streets to be experienced. The effects of light and shade have impressively, and to the thought the new personality and to bring them out in their original positions. The young subject of Miss Howell's story, Dr. Campbell, is a most original character, and is the best of the novel. The story is a most interesting one, and the characters are well drawn. The plot is a most interesting one, and the characters are well drawn. The plot is a most interesting one, and the characters are well drawn.

Miss Howell's "Southern Family" is a story of the South, and the characters are well drawn. The plot is a most interesting one, and the characters are well drawn. The plot is a most interesting one, and the characters are well drawn.

John Bright.

The life of John Bright, the great English orator, is one which offers few romantic materials for the writer, and it is more than doubtful whether Mr. Dobson has done well in making it the subject of a biography. Bright never was obliged to struggle with fortune or to overcome difficulties, and the few early years of his life contain nothing which would have been of great interest to the world. He was born in a provincial town, and his father was a manufacturer, and he himself was brought up to the business. He was married young, and had a family of children, and he was a member of the House of Commons for many years. He was a great orator, and his speeches were published in the newspapers of the day. He was a great statesman, and his name will be remembered as long as the English language is spoken. He was a great man, and his life is worthy of the attention of all who read it.

Farmers' Organizations.

Constitutions, methods, and organizations of various kinds exist to meet those of every department of business, labor, and even learned of the higher arts and professions. Agriculture alone is without the protective efficacy of organization of individual interests, and no organized assistance to secure remunerative prices or any other authority to secure to each of such organized assistance to enhance them in foreign. In scarcely one of the manufacturing and mechanical arts is it necessary to the farmer who is desirous to know who has or offers and to buy, for no one has greater interest every year the very existence of mankind that have their origin directly from the soil, through the farmer, and which, through the research, energy, and skill of the farmer, are brought to the use of man. Of all the departments of labor, that of agriculture is the most important, and the farmer should interest of the world to encouraging an intimate acquaintance and alliance of the farmers with each other in the United States, with those of all other countries, and with those engaged in all the departments of labor throughout the world. Such organizations have been made to a certain extent in this country, and have been productive of much good, but they have not been carried to the extent of the necessities of the case. Let the farmers of the country, through their organizations, meet annually in their respective counties, and in their State conventions, and by correspondence and delegation with each other, and with the National Agricultural Congress, and with the Department of Agriculture, devise such means as will secure to them the best possible prices for their products, and the best possible returns for their labor. Let them ascertain the wants of the country, and the best means of supplying them, and the best markets for the sale of their products, and the cheapest and best means of reaching them. Let them ascertain the condition of the crops throughout the country, and the probable amount of each kind that will be required for home consumption, and the probable amount that will be required from other countries, and the probable time when it will be required. Let them ascertain the condition of the crops throughout the world, and the probable amount of each kind that will be required from this country. Let them ascertain the probable amount of each kind that will be required for exportation during the year.

A Unfortunate Rule.

But the first requisite for bringing about such organization is the overthrow of a senseless rule in Northern California. It was a rule formerly, when any attempt was made to organize a Farmers' Club, that the Secretary should be a lawyer. The result was that the Secretary was generally the only man present who knew anything about the business of the Club, and he was consequently compelled to do all the talking himself. Long speeches were made by the lawyer Secretary, and the Club would soon adjourn, without having accomplished anything. Such Clubs were generally short-lived. Farmers would not attend meetings where they were compelled to listen to long speeches from lawyers, and when they found that the Club was composed of lawyers and farmers, they would not attend at all. Lawyers are not farmers, and they do not understand farming. Their business is the speech of the people, and they are always ready to make a speech and argue with anybody about anything. They would argue with a farmer about the best way to raise potatoes, and would be ready to talk about the best way to raise corn, or wheat, or cattle, or horses, or sheep, or hogs, or poultry, or bees, or anything else that a farmer is interested in WASHINGTON, D. C., July 17.—[Special Correspondence.] It is evident to neither the average citizen of the State of New York, nor to the politicians of the organization opposition to Grover Cleveland which exists on the part of many elements of society in that State to the administration, dwindling Col. D. S. Alexander the most ardent and earnest advocate to a presidential nomination, I said:

"I do not doubt that Gov. Boies in the coming gathering of the young men of Wisconsin will express their sentiments, but I believe that the majority, and judgment, and they will, but there are those who will oppose his nomination. Will you not add to such men's opposition Grover Cleveland and make it absolutely and unanimously against him?"

"The declaration of this thought will be a personal matter, but I believe most heartily in the political principles. I was an ardent admirer of the legislative correspondence of a New York governor, which was fundamental, that the executive was a department to look to the legislature, and that responsibility in the matter of legislation rested with the people and their representatives, and not with the executive."

Mr. Cleveland's opposition to the bill introduced by Senator Gorman, taking from the Board of Commissioners of Alien Immigration the power to examine into the circumstances of persons coming to this country, and to say whether they were proper emigrants, was a strong argument in favor of the contention that the right of citizenship in the State of New York should be left to the people of the State, and not to the management of the Democratic organization, which, in the city of New York, was largely composed of foreigners, who, under the present system of naturalization, were allowed to vote after a residence of five years in the country. The bill introduced by Senator Gorman, which proposed to take away
